

TEAM MEMBER PORTRAIT

DEREK LOKEY

Director of Client Strategy and Engagement

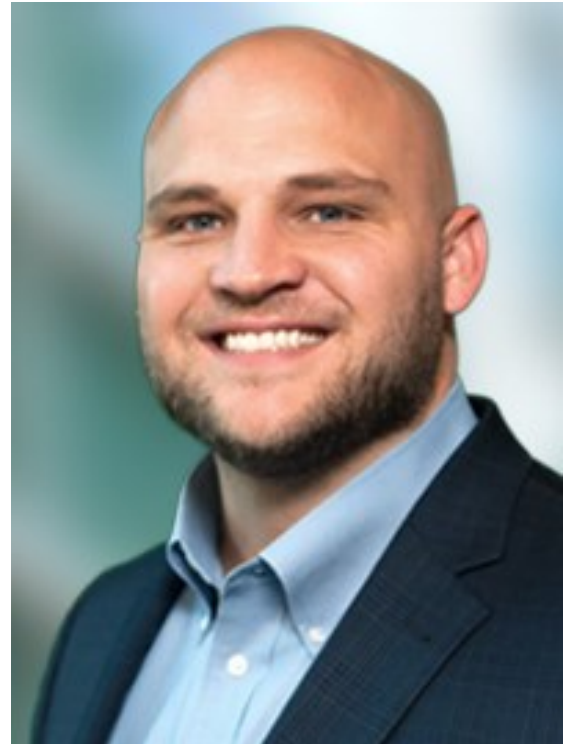

BIOGRAPHY //

Derek is passionate about people, performance, and leadership. This passion is applied to his current role at the Flippen Group, leading the team responsible for ensuring alignment and integration of Flippen Group tools and processes to improve client performance.

Derek leads projects and works directly with industries including manufacturing, oil and gas services, retail energy, private equity, real estate, healthcare, sports and entertainment, transportation and logistics, and technology. Derek also focuses on the study and development of millennial leaders and serves clients as a professional coach.

Before his time at the Flippen Group, Derek had a successful career in the National Football League with the Kansas City Chiefs as a defensive lineman. He earned his bachelor's degree at the University of Texas and played for the 2005 National Champion University of Texas football team. He was also voted captain of the team and earned Academic All-American honors.

Derek and his wife, Charlie, reside in Dallas, Texas and have three sons: Logan, Lawson, and Landon. ■

KEY FACTS

- Bachelor's degree in sports management from the University of Texas.
- Former professional athlete and member of Kansas City Chiefs.
- Captain, Academic All-American, and 2005 National Championship member of the University of Texas football team.

 /company/the-flippen-group

 /flippengroup

 /flippencorp